

Hello and welcome to Module 5

Katie is out for this module for completely unavoidable reasons, so we have asked one of the most distinguished AI masters on campus (and my personal friend and mentor) to step in at the very last minute. I'm very proud to introduce Dr. Hubie Ballard. Hubie is one of the visionaries leading the charge to integrate AI into medicine across Kentucky, and we are grateful to have the opportunity to hear your thoughts and opinions on probably the most important module in the entire course.

Hubie: Thanks for having me. I think this course and specifically this message about personal responsibility is so important.

Well, for the last twenty years or so, we've all been on a crash course in what you might call "digital literacy." We all had to learn a new set of rules for being online: which websites to trust with our credit card information, which links and websites were going to give you a virus, and how to know which Nigerian prince is actually a scam.
