

Sexual Assault (Pediatric)

Your child had a physical exam today due to concerns for sexual abuse/assault. The medical exam findings as well as lab results will be discussed with you at the time of the follow up appointment. It is important to remember that a normal exam cannot discount sexual abuse and that many children who have been sexually abused may have normal examinations.

Lab tests were obtained to assess for infection. Since some tests will not pick up incubating infections, it may be necessary to repeat some of that testing at the time of the follow up exam or at a much later date. The healthcare provider that evaluates your child at the time of follow up will discuss the results of the testing and need for additional testing. The following tests were sent:

- ☐ HIV antibodies
- ☐ Hepatitis B
- ☐ Hepatitis C antibody
- ☐ Herpes
- ☐ Syphilis
- ☐ Trichomonas
- ☐ Gonorrhea and Chlamydia (throat, vaginal, rectal, or urethral)
- ☐ Urinalysis and Urine Culture

Your child has been prescribed and/or given the following medications for prophylaxis (prevention of incubating infection) or treatment of current infection:

- ☐ Ceftriaxone (Gonorrhea)
- ☐ Azithromycin (Gonorrhea/Chlamydia)
- ☐ Erythromycin Ethylsuccinate (Chlamydia)
- ☐ Acyclovir (Herpes)
- ☐ Metronidazole (Trichomonas)
- ☐ HIV Prophylaxis Medications/Instructions:
 - ☐ _____
 - ☐ _____
 - ☐ _____

Additional Medication Instructions:

After a sexual assault, it is normal for children to experience a wide range of emotions or behaviors. Some of those include:

- General sense of anxiety and fear
- Nightmares/trouble sleeping
- Changes in appetite
- Bowel or Bladder incontinence

Investigators generally suggest refraining from asking your child to provide you specifics about the abuse because they will want your child to have the opportunity to provide their history to a trained forensic interviewer at a Children's Advocacy Center. You can however reassure your child that you support them and acknowledge that making a disclosure of abuse is a difficult yet courageous thing to do.
